The Charles Santore Library is a branch of the Free Library of Philadelphia that serves the residents, public schools, private schools and pre-schools of the South Philadelphia communities of Bella Vista, Queen Village, Hawthorne and Passyunk Square.

The Library opened in its current location on November 1, 1963. It was renovated in 1998 as part of the "Changing Lives" campaign, which refurbished branches and ensured Internet access. In 2010 and 2011 the Friends of the Charles Santore Library coordinated the renovation of the courtyard and achieved a space that is inviting, verdant, peaceful, and easy to maintain.

The Friends of the Charles Santore Library is comprised of individuals and businesses from the community that support the Library through initiatives, such as; fundraising projects, educational programs, and various improvement projects. By working closely with the Library staff, The Friends of the Charles Santore Library create initiatives that will provide the resources to meet the most immediate needs of the branch.

Our attention is now dedicated to facilitating upgrades that will serve to best support all patrons of the service area. All proceeds raised at future events and all future donations will do directly to the branch in order to better serve the patrons of the Charles Santore Library. We encourage and will gladly accept your help in this effort. Thank you for your consideration.
